The Young Canada Works 2018 campaign has launched!

The Canadian Council of Archives is pleased to announce that the 2018 campaign for the program Young Canada Works (YCW) in Heritage Organizations has been launched.

This year again, as part of the Youth Employment Strategy of the Government of Canada, we have been allocated supplemental funding by the Department of Canadian Heritage, which means that we will be able to help fund twice as many summer projects and up to 4 times more internships than usual.

Archival institutions as well as libraries operating in English are now able to apply online for both summer projects and internships via the YCW official web site.

For more information and to obtain a copy of the Employer Guide, please visit our web site (<http://www.archivescanada.ca/YCW>). You will find the links for the program's Guidelines and application forms on the YCW website (young-canada-works.canada.ca).

IMPORTANT:

The application deadline for the summer projects is January 15, 2018.

The application deadline for the internships is February 1st, 2018.

If you have any questions concerning your application in the archival field, do not hesitate to contact Louise Charlebois or Isabelle Alain at ycw_jct@archivescanada.ca

If you have any questions concerning your application as a library operating in English, do not hesitate to contact Sabrina Pound (ycw-cla@archivescanada.ca)

About the Canadian Council of Archives (CCA)

CCA is a bilingual registered charitable organization, assisting over 800 archives as they advance the preservation, organization, and accessibility of our country's rich archival heritage. Established thirty years ago to foster collaboration and coordination throughout the Canadian Archival System, CCA has been a delivery partner for YCW since 1996 and also delivers professional secretariat services to the Council of Provincial and Territorial Archivists (CPTA), National Archival Appraisal Board (NAAB) and the North American Archival Network for the International Council of Archives (NAANICA).
